Japanese food is all about freshness, and you only really get to experience this when you are out in the countryside – dockside sushi, freshly shucked oysters, crisp tempura. And that is exactly what we do on the Japanese Gourmet Food Tour.

THE TOUR'S TWO WEEKS ARE SPLIT INTO THE DISCOVERY WEEK AND EXPLORING WEEK

Discovery Week is based out of the same apartment hotel in Osaka so that you get to familiarise yourself with the local area. From this hotel in downtown Osaka, you will get to experience the Kansai Area. Including Osaka itself as well as day trips to Nara, Kyoto and Mie Prefecture.

Once you have settled into Japan, you will jump on the Bullet Train and start Exploring Week. Heading south through Hiroshima, Shimonoseki, Fukuoka, Yanagawa and Kagoshima. Before flying back to Osaka for the final night together.

Japan has 47 regions and each one of them has their own local foods. So as you travel through 8 regions on this tour, you will try different styles of kushikatsu, yakitori, tempura, wagyu beef bbg and sukiyaki, kurobuta (black pork) shabu shabu and tonkatsu, fresh eel, sake breweries, dashi stock cooking class, and dockside sushi and sashimi. And these are just the restaurants.

You will also eat local dishes as you walk around including Japanese spiny lobster, baked oysters, steamed mussels, takoyaki (octopus balls), pork buns, crepes, choux cream and Mos Burger. You will indulge your culinary senses everyday with the best food Japan has on offer. After this tour you will be an expert on Japanese food.

ABOUT CHEF TAMAKI

CHEF, CULTURAL AMBASSADOR & TRAVEL WRITER

Tamaki was born and raised in Osaka and obtained her Chef qualifications in Melbourne Australia.

Tamaki's passion is food. She loves creating amazing dishes that simply make people smile (and want more of course). But her heart has and always will, remain with the exquisite dishes found in the japanese culture.

What really annoys Tamaki is that many of the existing cultural tours of Japan, simply don't show its 'true food culture'. To the Japanese, the places the tourists are eating in are a bit like going to a fast food take away.

That is why Tamaki has launched her gourmet food tours because she wants to show you all the hidden treasures and allow you to indulge in some of the most exquisite culinary delights that Japan has to offer and that no one else knows about, except the locals.
